ABOUT JAMES HARE

Since James Hare's humble beginnings in 1865, the Hare family has been designing, manufacturing and distributing elegant fabrics using only the finest materials and techniques.

An extensive range of plains in everything from pure and faux silk to linen is available in over 700 colours, along with a gorgeous array of embroideries and jacquards. Virtually all the fabrics can be paper backed to create luxurious wallcoverings, bringing intense colour and texture to an interior.

Now run by the fifth generation of the family, the company still abides by its founder's principles of offering only the best in British design, quality and service.
